

Port of Seattle (POS) Stakeholder Advisory Roundtable (StART)

In 2018, the Port of Seattle will launch a new way for the communities of Burien, Des Moines, Federal Way, Normandy Park, SeaTac and Tukwila to engage with Sea-Tac Airport staff, at meetings convened by the airport managing director.

Participants will be able to share information, discuss community concerns and voice feedback on the airport's construction projects, programs and operations. Meetings will allow dialogue on airport activities, will inform decision-making and increase knowledge about the airport and the cities.

Membership will include community members and staff from each city; and representatives from airlines, air cargo and the Port. The Federal Aviation Administration will provide agency expertise.

The two SeaTac community members will be appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the City Council following the City's Citizen Advisory Committee vacancy process. If you are interested in being considered, please fill out a Citizen Advisory Committee application.

Applications will be accepted until Friday, December 15. The first meetings begin in February. Applications are available on the City's website:

<http://www.ci.seatac.wa.us/government/city-departments/city-clerk/citizen-advisory-committees> or by contacting cityclerk@ci.seatac.wa.us or 206.973.4661.

Results from Public Poll in Search for Next City Manager

During the month of October 2017, there was a non-scientific poll available for residents and business owners to give their input on key values, attributes and qualities sought in the next City Manager. The data provided by 62 individuals has been collected and reviewed. You can view the poll results here.

The general results and comments will be used by the City Council as input into the job announcement when the recruitment for the position begins early in 2018. City Manager recruiting documents usually contain much more detailed information about the local community, operation of the local government and expectations of the City Manager than other staff positions. The more specific information that is provided in the announcement will help lead towards applicants more interested in our community rather than just in the job.

Examples include: community preferences about where the next City Manager should reside after hiring (such as in South King County) is important for potential candidates to understand. A community preference for someone who has experience working in public government agencies, or has applicable city manager or private executive management experience can encourage appropriately qualified candidates to apply. Reflecting desired qualities such as being an excellent problem solver, motivated to bring people together, establish goals and work thoughtfully with the City Council to achieve those city goals are important to know up front.

The poll provided the first of the opportunities for the SeaTac community to participate in this important decision facing the Council in 2018. The insight of the residents' and business owners' preferences for their next City Manager is valuable for this decision.

Fire and Police Explorer Appreciation Event

Last Thursday, November 30, the City held its annual appreciation event to recognize the contributions of the Police and Fire Explorer programs. Staff and advisors work diligently throughout the year to teach scouts about the profession and develop leadership skills. Both programs provide support to their respective departments as needed and at community events.

Cruz Silva has been an Explorer Sergeant with the SeaTac Explorers for over a year. SeaTac Chief of Police Lisa Mulligan presented Cruz with the King County Sheriff's Explorer of the Year Award.

Cruz was nominated due to his commitment to the Explorer post and his involvement with the community. He presents open forums with students that attend the Puget Sound Skills Center. His goal is to build bridges between law enforcement and today's youth. It's important to have understanding on both sides, especially with so much turmoil in society. Cruz also attends recruitment events with the King County Sheriff's office. He donates his time to all post events, festivals, meetings and to the Highline Food Bank.

SeaTac Transitions to a New Phone App

The City of SeaTac is transitioning to a new phone app to support our Click-N-Request reporting system established in 2012. The updated phone app has the same branding (Click-N-Request) as our original version, just a different service provider – SeeClickFix. The phone app is designed to allow citizens to report a problem to the City without having to call in or submit an email. While the new phone app went into effect on November 13 of this year, City staff will announce once all testing has been completed and the integration of the new application is finalized.

The new phone app will be fully operational by mid-December. To help make citizens aware of the transition, existing phone app users were notified via email of the change. To download the new phone app, citizens can go to their favorite app store, and search for SeeClickFix and download the SeeClickFix app. When this app is operated within the City, the SeaTac Click-N-Request branding will appear on the screen.

As the City is still in a transitioning stage, we would appreciate hearing any feedback you might have. To submit feedback on the new phone app, please call 206.973.4722 or email kspencer@ci.seatac.wa.us.
