From Your Police Chief

August 2018

Dear Residents of SeaTac,

I am delighted to present to you the 2017 Police Services Highlights and Data Report. This report will provide you with a high level overview of crime in SeaTac and how that has trended over the last few years. While, as your new chief, I find this data instructive, I am more concerned with where we will go in the coming months.

As part of the Agreement made with the Port of Seattle, SeaTac was provided with funding to add and sustain six additional police officers over the next ten years. We are currently in the process of implementing these additional resources which will include the acquisition of two traffic motorcycles which will provide the residents, travelers, and businesses an exceptional new tool to combat the ever increasing traffic and parking issues we see all over the City.

With the support of City Council and in partnership with Public Works, we have implemented a Mailbox Replacement Program that for around a hundred dollars, will provide improved mail security in our neighborhoods. Mail theft is one of the primary precursor crimes leading to fraud and identity theft. I am interested in making that risk to our residents a thing of the past.

Overall, SeaTac is a safe place to live and work, and I encourage you to get involved in police programs like Block Watch and the Community Police Academy, to learn all of the important ways you can help us make SeaTac even safer, and to address the Quality of Life issues that tend to erode civic pride. If you have ever heard me speak publically, you have heard me say that "Public Safety is a team sport, and we are all on the Team!" I am proud to be your Police Chief and look forward to many successes as we move forward together with and for each other.

Sincerely,

Carl Cole, Police Chief
SeaTac Police Department

City Cost Comparison

The annual police cost comparison study is conducted by the KCSO Contracts Unit. The study accounts for budget differences and may factor in (or out) certain line items in order to allow for "apples-to-apples" comparisons. SeaTac's cost per capita here is different than the contract cost per capita, which only includes SeaTac's law enforcement contract paid to the county.

Calls for Police Assistance

The public receives police assistance in a variety of ways. Residents can call the Emergency 911 Communications Center to have one or more officers dispatched to the field, called a "dispatched call for service."

In addition to dispatched calls for service, 911 center operators can take certain types of reports over the phone through alternative call handling (ACH). This allows police officers more time to respond to those who need an officer present at the location of their incident.

Following are the numbers of dispatched calls for service (DCFS) and alternative call handling (ACH) incidents reported.

Total DCFS counts, as shown in the Police Service Data section, may be slightly higher (usually less than 5 percent higher).

Response Times to High Priority Calls

When calls for police assistance are received by the Emergency 911 Communications Center, they are entered into the Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) system and given a "priority" based on the criteria described below. If the call receiver is in doubt as to the appropriate priority, the call is assigned the higher of the two priority designators in question.

"Priority X" designates critical dispatches. These are incidents that pose an obvious danger to the life of an officer or citizen. It is used for felony crimes in-progress where the possibility of confrontation between a victim and suspect exists. Examples include shootings, stabbings, robberies or burglaries.

"Priority 1" designates immediate dispatches. These are calls that require immediate police action. Examples include silent alarms, injury traffic accidents, in-progress crimes or crimes so recent that the suspect may still be in the immediate area.

"Priority 2" designates prompt dispatches. These are calls that could escalate to a more serious degree if not policed quickly. Examples include verbal disturbances and blocking traffic accidents.

Following are the City of SeaTac's Police response times for the above priority calls. Response times include all time from the receipt of a phone call to the moment an officer arrives at the location of the incident.

Costs of Police Services per Capita

The City of SeaTac contracts with the King County Sheriff's Office (KCSO) for police services. Among other benefits, contracting for services from a larger law enforcement agency allows for cost savings through "economies of scale." Specific economies of scale provided through the contract with KCSO include:

➢ A large pool of officers if back-up help is necessary
➢ Coverage if city officers are away
➢ Expertise of specialized units to assist officers
➢ Experienced officers to select from for city staffing
➢ Cost sharing throughout the department to keep city costs down

Costs for police services vary depending on a city's resources and the level and type of police services the community wants. The City of SeaTac may have additional funds or expenditures for special projects or programs as part of the city's law enforcement budget. These additional costs are not reflected in the contract cost per capita, which shows the contract cost for police services divided by SeaTac's population.

Complaints against Officers

Complaints against city police officers can originate from the public or internal police department personnel. All complaints are accepted and reviewed. When a complaint is made, the King County Sheriff's Office Internal Investigations Unit (IIU) will review the complaint. While serious complaints are investigated by IIU, the majority of complaints are far less serious and are handled at the worksites by supervisors. The following are the preliminary number of internal and external complaints that were investigated for city officers. Please note that these numbers are preliminary counts; final numbers will be published in the IIU Annual Report, released each spring.
