The City is Decorating For the Holiday Season

The City of SeaTac is preparing for the holiday season by decorating the trees outside City Hall and also at the Community Center.

City crews have also been putting the final touches on the giant tree that will be used in the annual Tree Lighting Festival on December 6. See above for more information.

Thanksgiving Baskets Delivered to Seniors in Need

This Thanksgiving, City of SeaTac Human Services Coordinator Kim Cooper and Mike Werle from the Highline Food Bank worked together to provide holiday food baskets for local seniors in need.

Mike assembled fifteen large boxes containing approximately 25 various food items, including ham, chicken, and a two-pound Lind chocolate bar each. The boxes were then delivered to the seniors by Kim and several SeaTac Community Service Officers.

An additional thank you to Community Service Officers Sana Toutai-Wight and Regina Burke, Senior Program Supervisor Linda Croasdill, and Senior Program Specialist Amy Oliverson for helping locate seniors in need.

Military Road South and South 152nd Street Open House

On Wednesday, November 28, the Public Works Department held an Open House for the public regarding information about upcoming roadway safety improvements on Military Road South and South 152nd Street. Approximately 45 community members showed up to view plans and renderings and to ask the engineers any questions they might have.

See below for pictures of the informative night. If you have any questions or would like more information, please contact Florendo Cabudol, Project Manager, at fcabudol@seatacwa.gov.

Port of Seattle's Flight Corridor Safety Program: Community Update

Work has begun on two Port properties (P4 and P5) just south of South 200th Street in the City of SeaTac to re-establish a low-growing forest along with a neighborhood vegetation barrier. Invasive understory removal on the two properties is currently occurring and is expected to be complete by the end of the year. Native shrub and tree planting will commence on the properties soon after. Approximately 1,190 trees will be planted on P4 and P5.

The Port also has added an additional area to re-plant tall-growing trees to supplement the overall tree canopy in the area. This site, known as the Offsite Mitigation Area, is located south of P4 and P5 and just west of 18th Avenue. Work in the Offsite Mitigation Area is occurring in parallel to the work on sites P4 and P5. Once the invasive understory is removed, approximately 570 trees will be planted in the Offsite Mitigation Area.

Ten trees on Washington State Department of Transportation and school district property north of South 200th Street in the City of SeaTac have been identified by the Federal Aviation Administration as impacting Sea-Tac Airport's flight procedures. As an interim measure, the trees are scheduled to be topped later this month and fixed with bird deterrents. A full environmental review will occur before any further action involving these ten trees is taken.

The Flight Corridor Safety Program's next phases of work on non-Port public jurisdiction, residential and commercial properties begins in 2019. Additional survey work, environmental review and public outreach will occur before any removal and replanting work ensues.

New Pilot Program to Allow Visitors Past Security at Sea-Tac Airport

Residents of SeaTac can now visit Sea-Tac Airport and go beyond the security gates as part of a new pilot program. The Port of Seattle launched the SEA Visitor Pass pilot program allowing the public to enter the post-security side of the terminal even if they are not traveling at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. This means that residents can visit the local shops and restaurants at the airport without having to purchase a ticket.

You can sign up for the SEA Visitor Pass pilot program and take advantage of the events, amenities, restaurants, and boutiques at the airport—without having to book a ticket on a flight. The pilot program will run through December 14 and the Port will study the feasibility of continuing the program permanently. For more information and to sign up, click here.

Increased Litter Pick-Up
