

City Manager's Weekly Update

March 25, 2011

Dear Mayor, Councilmembers, Residents, and Employees:

Visit to Northwest Kidney Center: Mayor Terry Anderson was recently invited to tour the Northwest Kidney Center and visit with some of the patients. It had been a few years since Mayor Anderson had last visited the Center when they opened in SeaTac at 17900 International Blvd., so she accepted the invitation for a visit Last Thursday, March 17. She found the visit to be very informative and met some wonderful people.

Puget Sound Starts Here Campaign: The Puget Sound Starts Here spring 2011 campaign launched this week with television spots running over the next six weeks and a documentary which aired on KIRO 7 TV on March 24. This regional stormwater education campaign is designed to raise awareness that our local practices, such as washing cars, using fertilizers and scooping dog poop, affect the health of the Puget Sound.

This educational campaign is a product of STORM (Stormwater Outreach for Regional Municipalities) and its partners, the Washington Department of Ecology and the Puget Sound Partnership. STORM is composed of the City of SeaTac along with 59 other jurisdictions from across the Puget Sound dedicated to raising awareness on the impacts of stormwater pollution and how residents can do their part to help improve the health of our natural waterways and the Puget Sound.

The Puget Sound Starts Here television ads are partnered with other social marketing strategies, such as Twitter, Facebook, and individual blog sites, all designed to encourage positive behavioral changes toward reducing the pollution in our stormwater systems. The television ads also point people toward the campaign website, www.pugetsoundstartshere.org, where further information is offered regarding problems facing the Puget Sound, along with workable solutions we can do in our everyday actions to reduce our pollution of the waters. The website offers scientific data, photos, videos, children activities, and more.

For more information on STORM or the Puget Sound Starts Here campaign, please contact Resource Conservation/Neighborhood Programs Coordinator Trudy Olson at 973.4763.

SeaTac Fire assists Tukwila Fire: On March 18 at approximately 11:15 PM, SeaTac Fire responded to assist the Tukwila Fire Department to a report of a shooting in the area of S. 150th and Military Road. After the Police Department had secured the scene, units from both fire departments and King County Medic One treated two patients. One patient had a gunshot wound to the head and was transported by Medic One to Harborview Medical Center. The other with a gunshot wound to the leg was transported to Highline Hospital by ambulance.
